Amiable, attractive landscape and clandestine roads, which circumvent innumerable vestiges of the myth of Empordà. An inspiring image, the purest surrealism furrowed by our elegant sidecars. Worthy of being part of a painting by Salvador Dalí, the sensation produced by traveling by sidecar along the charming roads that connect Empordà towns and farmhouses, is unmatched.

We start the destination road to Empordà in our Royal Enfield with sidecar. A dream destination in many ways, but surely you never imagined it would be like this. The route is secret and the destination is surreal. On one side the beautiful Mediterranean, on the other, the magical mountains that mark the ancient Pyrenees. The route runs along those roads that are lost on the map and that do not exactly refer to the shortest path.

At the end of the route an exponential farmhouse from the 16th century stands next to a Romanesque church from the 12th century. Over the centuries it underwent a series of transformations until it became the liturgical and on-site Masía where we will stay. Its location and unique façade with large windows offer unbeatable views from any of its rooms.

The Tramontana Style Sidecar Tour reveals the true myth of Empordà, the cradle of Mediterranean cultures. Something that is perceived in the identity of its inhabitants.
