Highlights in Northern Morocco include parts of the Atlantic and Mediterranean coasts, Roman ruins, the Rif Mountains, and several colorful and ancient medinas. The north of Morocco is likely greener than you'd imagine (they grow olives and even wine grapes!), and its home to most of the country's imperial cities and the history that goes along with them. Major stops in this part of the country include Casablanca, Rabat, and Meknes, the ruins of Volubilis, Fes, and Chefchaouen.
